Gospel Reading

Luke 24:13-35

A Special Message from Father MariaDear Brothers & Sisters in Christ:

In today's Gospel, a stranger joins two down-hearted disciples on their journey to Emmaus. To him they pour out all their crushed hopes about Jesus who has been crucified and whom they miss so much. After listening carefully to their story, the stranger tells them that they are slow to "believe all that the prophets spoke." He then explains the scripture to them. The disciples are delighted with the stranger's teaching. They do not realize that the stranger is Jesus until he takes bread, blesses it and gives it to them. At Mass, the priest does the same thing everyday as we too meet Jesus along the road of our lives and Jesus gives himself to us through these very actions.

Moments of revelation have the potential to transform, just as the disciples experienced that day. After their encounter with Jesus, everything changed for them. Jesus opened the Scriptures and shed his light on the Word of God and the disciples responded by moving from spiritual darkness into light and continued down their path to Jerusalem with a whole new awareness. Our lives are also full of moments of revelation. God shows us love and the courageous path, if we look, when we live with open hearts. Our own personal encounters with the Lord illuminates our lives and sends us forth in his name. We may see God in places we have not been accustomed to seeing him or we may not have the opportunity to see him in places where we are most comfortable. But, as disciples of Jesus, we are called to charge into the darkness without fear. We are called to keep up the momentum of our response in faith even when it appears dark. We have been illuminated by Christ and are sent to go forth in his light. Using scripture as our guide, we are to live forward in the Easter light!

APRIL Is Child Abuse Prevention Month

Every April, Catholic parishes and schools across the United States participate in National Child Abuse Prevention Month.

The Effects of ABUSE

When a child is abused, the effects are grave and can last a lifetime. Some of the most common effects of abuse include:

- Loss of faith and trust in God.
- Post-traumatic stress disorder, psychological distress, and other indirect signs of trauma, such as anxiety, trouble sleeping, chronic stomach pain, and headaches.
- A greater risk of developing behavioral problems, substance abuse, and suicide.

The sense of violation goes deep into a person's psyche and feelings of anger, shame, hurt, and betrayal can build long after the abuse has taken place.

Steps to Prevent ABUSE

Communicate with Your Children

It is extremely important to communicate openly with your children. Let them know that they can talk to you about anything that bothers them. This will help you identify warning signs and grooming behaviors perpetrated by offenders before they escalate to abuse.

Educate Yourself and Your Children on Abuse

Learning how to identify, prevent, and report abuse is key. Parents and guardians should empower their children to protect themselves from harm and to report abuse. Ask your diocesan safe environment coordinator or parish delegate about opportunities for safe environment training.

Identify and Report Warning Signs of Child Abusers

Grooming behaviors are the actions abusers take to project the image that they are kind, generous, caring people, while their intent is to lure a minor into an inappropriate relationship. Offenders can be patient and may groom their victim, his or her family, or community for years.

Some abusers isolate a potential victim by giving him or her undue attention or lavish gifts, while others allow young people to participate in activities which their parents or guardians would not approve, such as watching pornography, drinking alcohol, using drugs, and excessive touching, such as wrestling and tickling. Abusers also often try to isolate their victims from family or friends and encourage their victims to keep secrets from their parents or other caring adults.

Holding Offenders ACCOUNTABLE

To help hold offenders accountable, report all suspected abuse to local public authorities. You can also contact your local diocesan victim assistance coordinator to make a report and seek outreach for the abused.

In accordance with diocesan policy, when a single act of sexual abuse is admitted or established, the offender is to be removed permanently from ministry.

"The abuse itself causes a deep wound that may last a lifetime, but often the scandal in the Church is because the door was closed and the victims were not welcomed and accompanied by authentic pastors."

—Pope Leo XIV, Jan. 10, 2026
