Gospel Reading

Matthew 9:36—10:8

A Special Message from Father MarioDear Brothers & Sisters in Christ:

Today's Gospel reading gives us a glimpse into the heart of Jesus. When he saw the crowds who had come to hear him speak, we read that his heart was moved with pity "because they were troubled and abandoned, like sheep without a shepherd." Jesus couldn't leave them like that. He had to do something! So he gathered his apostles and sent them out to proclaim the Good News to the people and to heal them. He told them: "Without cost you have received; without cost you are to give."

We are not just recipients of God's goodness; we are invited to actively participate in his goodness. Just as Jesus "called" the twelve apostles, he also calls us to continue the works of the apostles as we carry on his ministry in our world today. He calls each one of us into his service. The needs of the world today are as great if not greater than the needs back when Jesus was on earth. God gives freely to us and in return we must freely give. Take a few moments this week and discern how you can be a shepherd and care for others that you meet along your way. Realizing we are all called into his service, determine what you will do to allow Jesus to work through you as you communicate the mystery of God and lead others to him. Allow Jesus to be your Shepherd and loving Master as you actively seek and surrender to him and allow him to work through you for the betterment of others.

We will not be celebrating the 5:00pm Sunday Mass during the months of June, July and August.

The 5:00pm Sunday Mass will resume on Sunday, September 6th.

KEEPING KIDS SAFER ONLINE

KEEP THE GROUND RULES

Even if our online habits have changed significantly, you can still set boundaries that work for your family and schedule. Involving children in setting these rules may help them stick to the guidelines.

Consider:

- Distance learning tasks before social media or gaming
- No devices during meals
- At least ____ minutes of non-electronic activities per day
- "Digital curfew": no devices after a certain hour

ENGAGE WITH THE PLATFORMS

Take advantage of this time at home and online to get more familiar with the technology platforms your child likes to use. Taking a genuine interest in the games and platforms your child enjoys will help you better understand what your child is doing online.

Consider:

If you're teleworking, take a short break to join your child on a round on the game console, or forward a funny mememe or video you saw on one of the social media channels they use. It's a quick way to show you're willing and able to be involved in your child's online life.

MODIFY HOW YOU MONITOR

Even the strictest monitoring programs and content blockers can't ensure that children are totally protected online.

The best tools for keeping kids safe are time, attention and active conversation about digital behaviors.

Consider:

Setting up workstations for children and teens that provide quick visual access to the screens for easy check-ins from parents/caretakers as they telework or complete household tasks.

CHAT IRL

Chat "in real life" with your children. With our social lives being conducted entirely online these days, it's important to have face-to-face discussions about how children and teens are maintaining healthy relationships online, and to give them opportunities to also talk about anything unhealthy or uncomfortable happening to them online.

Consider:

Showing that you're willing to listen and respond calmly, even if what you hear is uncomfortable or troubling.
